

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

It has recently been reported that the FCC is considering a flat fee system that would effect what I pay for long distance. My wife and I make very few calls and only have a cell phone for travel and emergencies. We are retired and on a fixed income. It sounds like the small user will be punished while the large user reaps the benefits. Please reconsider this plan.

Sincerely,

David Webster
1327n sunset beach dr
birchwood, wisconsin 54817